

Science Communication Office

Since its creation, the Institute of Space Studies of Catalonia (IEEC) has continuously carried out public outreach and science awareness to society. The institute carries outreach activities such as astronomy sessions, interviews for radio and TV shows, outreach articles in newspapers and magazines, fairs, exhibitions, outreach talks to the general public and schools, workshops and courses.

As for school activities and workshops, the Science Communication Department continuously collaborates with teachers and professors, organizing activities and talks at the academic institutions concerning the topics that the schools are working on. Therefore, if you are interested in having the IEEC visit your institute or school, please contact the Science Communication Department for more detailed information.

In addition, if you belong to an association and are interested in coordinating with the IEEC talks and conferences for the community, courses and workshops, astronomy sessions, etc., please contact the Science Communication Office to schedule your activity.
